Federal Communications Commission
RE: Proceeding 04-233

To Whom It May Concern:

Thank you for allowing listeners of Christian radio a voice.

I am writing in response to the recent proposal of changes which would affect local Christian radio stations such as KLove.

It is discouraging to think that a listener supported radio station will be under such firm grasp of the FCC that it would likely have a negative impact on the operations of the station. In a world of negative messages, sloping economy and ever increasing anxiety, it is a blessing to be able to turn on the radio and hear positive messages on our airwaves.

I live in an area of the Midwest where we cherish family values and support Christian radio stations. We have lost 2 such stations to local regulations in the past 5 years. This loss was great and I was delighted to find a listener supported radio station because this is what our local stations lacked- the funds to keep the message on the airwaves.

I believe that it would be a great disservice to listeners if federally mandated proposals interfere with a listener supported radio station such as KLove. Please allow us the freedom of speech we are provided in the laws of the United States of America.

Thank you again allowing our voices to be heard. I would very much appreciate that our private money be allowed to provide the services we are funding and to operationalize these services on the best manner of business that the station deems appropriate.

Sincerely,

Tracey A. Tomak
